

FEBRUARY 2020

FEBRUARY 12, WednesdayGENERAL MEETING 1:00 PM

Fairview Village Church, 3044 W. Germantown Pike, Eagleville, 19403

Light refreshments will be served at 12:30 PM

GREETERS: Linda Stirzel, Anna Federico

HOSPITALITY: Nia Eaton, Judy Jenkins, Denise Luongo,
Sandy Moyer, Barbara Stobenau

PROGRAM: “Green Roofs from the Ground Up”

Morris Arboretum green-roof guru Louise Clarke will describe the history and benefits of green roofs and the tough plants that thrive on them. Lou teaches at Morris Arboretum, Longwood Gardens, The Barnes Foundation, and other venues. A member of Garden Communicators International, she speaks nationally and internationally about the value of mentoring and the documented health benefits of human connections to nature. A graduate of Temple University in Environmental Design and Horticulture, Louise is an accredited Green Roof Professional through Green Roofs for Healthy Cities and holds arborist certification from the International Society of Arboriculture.

GCFP TRASH-TO-TREASURE CONTEST

SHOW OF THE MONTH: “West Side Story” – 1961

Horticulture: Houseplant with pink/red flowers or leaves

Design: Parallel arrangement of three or more vertical groupings
Chairs: Priscilla Myers, Sue Bailey, Elaine Watters

FEBRUARY 18, Tuesday..... HORTICULTURE WORKSHOP 10:00 AM

Ed Weber, a certified American Orchid Society judge, and Past-President of the Greater Philadelphia Orchid Society, will demonstrate proper grooming and re-potting techniques for the beginner. He will highlight a couple of orchid species that are well suited to outdoor cultivation in our area. Wissahickon Valley Public Library, 650 Skippack Pike, Blue Bell, 19422
Chair: Trina Bayne, co-chairs: Caren Puschak, Jessica Milleo

FEBRUARY 27–MARCH 8..... PHILADELPHIA FLOWER SHOW

First entries for Horticulture on Thursday, 2/27.

First entries for Design on Friday, 2/28.

Show opens to the public on 2/29.

Please enter horticulture and/or design, and/or volunteer at the show:

Get free, early-morning, less-crowded admission to the show!